Buck Suzuki Legacy Bursary

TBuck Suzuki Environmental Foundation is accepting applications for our annual Buck Suzuki Legacy Bursary, valued at $1000. Students in oceans, fisheries or marine related studies at the undergraduate, graduate, or trades level are welcome to apply.

Deadline: June 15, 2020

Criteria:

- Eligible candidates must be enrolled in a marine-related undergraduate, graduate, or trade program in a Canadian institution
  - Some examples include: marine trades, shipwright, vessel master, marine biology or ecology, fisheries science, social justice, community health sciences, or natural resource management
- Preference will be given to students with family connections to the marine sectors

Application Requirements

Please provide a letter or video (max. 3 pages/3 minutes) addressing the following questions:

- In your opinion, what is the greatest challenge facing our oceans and fisheries today? How will your studies help address these challenges and build a brighter future?
- Please describe your relationship to the ocean or marine community.
  - How do you interact with the marine environment?
  - If applicable, detail family employment in the marine sectors and/or any connection to marine industries

Supporting documents are encouraged. Please include any letters of reference, transcripts, CV or list of accomplishments including awards, presentations, publications, work experience, public service that you feel would strengthen your application.

Please submit all bursary application materials to kiera@bucksuzuki.org by June 15, 2020.